

1114-00-184 Jesse Elliott (jesse.elliott@csuci.edu), One University Drive, Camarillo, CA 93012.

Monism, pluralism, and the axiom of constructibility.

The axiom of constructibility is argued for on monist grounds but rejected on pluralist grounds. Dualism is put forward to reconcile the two. (Received August 26, 2015)